

Week 4

Trying something new

This week's focus is the importance of trying new things. Doing different things fuels learning. Being curious and creative is natural and can lead us to sustained happiness and greater confidence. Trying new things can also build resilience.

To celebrate trying something new week, we did lots of activities including: balloon modelling, making musical instruments, drawing comics, robot building and special art projects...and Year 6 had a brilliant time trying lots of new things on school journey.
