Explanations/Hints and tips

Week 1 to Week 3 - Homophones and other words that are often confused

Look up the two meanings if you don't know them!

In week 1's word set, the pairs of words are easily mixed up when using them in context. The noun version ends in -ce and the verb version ends in -se. Advice and advise provide a useful clue as the word advise (verb) is pronounced with a /z/ sound - which could not be spelt c. Prophecy is a noun and prophesy is a verb.

Week 4 and Week 5 - homophone meanings

The meaning test will involve the children being supplied with a mixture of the homophone words from the half term. They will then write either the meaning of the word or use the word in the correct context to show they can differentiate between the different meanings and spellings.
