

In Year 6, we learned about the UN sustainable development goal 10: Reduced Inequalities. By 2030, the goal is to empower and promote the social, economic and political inclusion of all, irrespective of age, sex, disability, race, ethnicity, origin, religion or economic or other status. We created a piece of art work in the style of Chris Ofili - drawing influence from his use of bright colours, pattern and collage. We loved how he hid faces of people within the art work too. Chris Ofili's art is very varied, but often large and brightly coloured, using paint, glitter and collage.

Much of his art is inspired by African culture, stereotypes, religion and identity.

Chris Ofili pieces- where we found our inspiration

Our final piece

We used brusho to create a background, then we decided on symbols and patterns which we thought best represented the groups we wanted to show and promote within society. We collaged images of people that inspire us as well as pictures of our class in a pair of weighing scales to show we are all equal and special.

We also included images of flags to represent every country in the world to represent origin. We added a symbol to represent gender equality and a pink triangle to represent LGBTQ+. We added coins from all over the world to represent economic status and religious symbols to again promote equality. Finally we added the artist Chris Ofili to our work. All of this was collaged around a gold painted UNICEF symbol.
