3D Illustrated maps

This week, we took inspiration from Kirsten O'Brien's illustrated 3D map of the city of Bath, by creating our own illustrated maps of our local area. We used existing maps, or drew our own, and added physical and human features to our maps. Some of us used street view on Google maps and others went on a walk in our neighbourhood to find things to add to our maps. We then carefully cut around the features to make our maps 3D.
