

Balancing children's rights

At the moment, duty bearers are having to make difficult decisions about balancing children's right to an education (article 28) and children's right to health (article 24). As part of their home learning, children across KS2 thought about how their rights were being met differently at the moment and drew balance scales to show this.

HEALTHCARE

- ♦ Staying at home
 - > We are away from other people who are potentially ill, therefore illnesses cannot spread.
- ♦ Wearing a face mask
 - > If we are ill, we can cough on other people, spreading our saliva. Our saliva can contain coronavirus.
 - > We can sneeze on others. Our snout can contain coronavirus.
- ♦ Eating healthy food
 - > We will be healthy and grow taller.
- ♦ Healthcare with doctors, nurses, surgeons etc.
 - > Only if we are ill, we can either have online chats with a person who knows how to treat us, or have an appointment.

EDUCATION

- ♦ Google Classroom
 - > We can receive work to do and keep our minds going.
- ♦ Using a computer
 - > We can access educational resources that can only be used online.
- ♦ Resources (including BBC bitesize, etc.)
 - > Our teachers do not have to explain every piece of work in their own recorded video, saving time by giving links to online resources.
- ♦ Teachers, school community
 - > They can keep us motivated to do work.
- ♦ Parents
 - > They look after us, so that we have enough energy to work well.
