

Year 1 trip to Kensington Palace – Victorian toy workshop

As part of our history learning about old and new toys, Year 1 went on a trip to Kensington Palace and took part in a Victorian Toy Workshop. We learnt about the toys that Queen Victoria played with and even got to play with some of her toys!

- Ask one of the pupils to select a disc and question word. How many questions can you come up with about your object that start with that question word.
- Are able to come up with an answer to each question as a group? Don't worry if you can't, the discussion is the important thing.
- Once you've exhausted the questions starting with one word, choose another question disc and move onto the next word.
- Don't worry if you don't get through all the question words in the time given.

Make notes on your questions and answers in the space below. We're going to feedback to the group what we've learnt about each object.

Who is she?
 Where is she?
 What is she?
 Where was the portrait painted?
 What is she doing?
 How does she know how to play the piano?
 How did she get into that room?
 Why's she in black?
