

PSHE Week in Year 4!

Living in the Wider World; Becoming an Active Citizen

We started our week by learning more about Human Rights. We found out how and why they were created and then we thought about our rights as children. We illustrated the rights from the UNCRC to create a large poster. We also identified which different rights were being enjoyed in this picture.

Next we thought about communities. We thought about what a community is, who is part of it and which different communities we are part of.

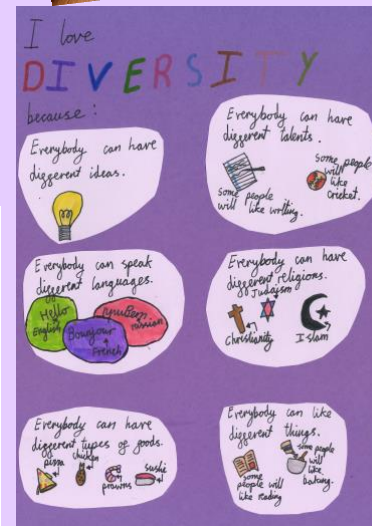

We thought about how we value the contributions people make to our community. We made thank you cards to send to the staff at the Royal Free.

We went to Henderson Court to plant some bulbs so that the visitors at the centre can enjoy sitting outside in a garden full of lovely flowers and plants.

We thought about what diversity means and what a diverse community is. We made posters in the style of a comic strip to showcase why celebrating diversity within communities is so important.

We tried to think of people and groups that make up our school community. We realised there are a lot of people involved!
