

Debating Championships

Six children in Year 5 visited South Hampstead High School for the biggest Year 5 debating competition in the UK!

171 Year 5 debaters from a range of schools across London attended the competition.

Our Year 5s were split into two teams and participated in three rounds of debating. The motions they were arguing included 'This House Believes You Should Never Lie to a Friend' and 'This House Believes That Video Games are Good for Children'.

The children also attended a workshop to perfect their persuasive argument skills.

One of our teams won all three debates and went home with a delicious prize!
