

Over the last few months, years 4 and 5 were treated to visits from musicians from Apollo Music Projects. This is an organisation that brings live classical music to children.

At Christmas, we went to Regent Hall to watch a chamber orchestra perform a few different pieces and we were able to ask questions.

Years 4 and 5

These sessions then culminated in a trip to the Hackney Empire in the Spring where we watched the full orchestra perform Schumann's Fourth Symphony.

We had performances from string, brass, and woodwind quartets. They performed a range of classical music that we had not heard before and some more well known pieces, even including some very recognisable theme tunes! We also had a visit from a conductor to hear about their role.
