

Fabulous assembly, Year 4! You shared so much of your learning in such an entertaining way – thank you!

Lenny and his mum stepped outside. Lenny's ears ached from the ear-splitting air raid sirens and the explosions of the bombs. Debris lay motionless on the obliterated streets of London. Their neighbours' (the Robinsons) house had been absolutely destroyed. An eerie silence hung in the air around London city. The strong smell of smoke travelled up Lenny's nose and into his lungs. Rubble, wood and brick lay scattered on the streets like a sea of water. Lenny couldn't see the sky. Just smoke. Black, dark smoke. Sorrowful, distant cries rang out through the destroyed city.

You shared some of your wonderful writing based on your English topic all about stories with historical settings.

We even heard a fantastic recorder recital!

We loved your song about the Romans – it is helping you to remember so much about the Romans' significant achievements and way of life!

Your volcanic eruption was brilliant – you taught us all about volcanoes, Pompeii and even explained the science behind the chemical reaction we saw take place!
