Year 1's trip to the London Transport Museum

UNDERGROUND

In History, Year 1 have been learning about how transport has changed within living memory. We went on a trip to the London Transport Museum to explore different modes of transport.

In our workshop, we learnt that the first buses and trams used in London were horse-drawn and that the first London underground trains were powered by steam, not electricity!

We enjoyed exploring the many different vehicles including buses, trams and the tube and comparing the older vehicles to the ones we use today.

We had lots of fun going inside and driving the old trams and buses!
